Sometimes,
the most profound transformations
are the ones that emerge
out of the deaths
that we face in our lives.
It may be a literal death,
the hole left in your life
when a beloved has gone,
and you feel unmade by the loss.
It may be any one of a thousand lesser losses-
the loss of a job or a friendship;
the death of a marriage or partnership;
a change in physical or mental ability;
even the death of a long-held dream.
These places of grief are barren places
in our lives,
God-forsaken places
that teach us sorrow and suffering and lamentation.

...But feeling forsaken is not the same as being forsaken.

The story of Easter tells us that death doesn't win...

Love wins.

Like the saplings that sprout
among the ruins of a forest fire,
like the phoenix who is born
from its own ashes,
like the crocus that pokes
through the snow each spring,
like the banana tree...which dies,
but lives on in its children,
hope rises.

Hope rises up
even in the face of death.

Even in our wilderness,
we are never completely lost.

CALL TO MEETING

ANNUAL MEETING & ELECTIONS

BOARD APPROVES NEW FIVE-YEAR PLAN

On 26 January 2014, UUCO held a Congregational Forum to get member's input on the direction of programming and formation for the next five years. The process that day included evaluating past efforts against the Board's newly articulated Ends and Membership Themes.

After information was gathered at the Forum, the Congregational Life Committee and the Committee on Ministry "hung" the elements on a five-year framework. Their concern was particularly to make the ideas and preferences of members coordinate maximally with the annual Membership Themes.

At the March meeting, the completed plan was approved by the Board. It was unveiled for the Congregation at Sunday morning worship on 9 March. (It is included on page 2 of this newsletter.) It includes some bold elements and exciting dreams. It keeps us engaged with the larger local community and the UUA while growing our strengths and skills.

I am pleased that our leadership is "on the same page" about providing plenty of opportunities for both personal development and outreach. I am also pleased they are planning and working for growth. I look forward to fruitful work for our benefit and as a positive influence in Owensboro!

Please take a good look at the plan before the Annual Meeting; our future really requires all of us~
Rev. Dr. Claudia A. Ramisch

Interfaith Moment: Mahavir Jayanti, 13 April 2014

Jainism is the 4th most practiced religion in India. There are about 10 million Jains in India. Lord Mahavir was the 24th and last Tirthankar (prophet). This year his birth anniversary falls on 13 April. According to Jainism, all Tirthankars, also known as Arihants or Jinas, were born as human beings but have attained a state of perfection or enlightenment through meditation and self realization.

Mahavir was born in 599 B.C. as a prince in Bihar, India. At the age of 30, he left everything and became a monk. He spent the next 12 years in deep silence and meditation to conquer his desires and feelings. At the end he realized perfect perception, knowledge, power, and bliss. This realization is known as keval-jnana.

Mahavir spent the next thirty years traveling around India preaching the eternal truth he had realized. He organized his followers, into a four-fold order, namely monk (Sadhu), nun (Sadhvi), layman (Shravak), and laywoman (Shravika). Later they are all known as Jains.

The ultimate objective of this teaching is how one can attain the total freedom from the cycle of birth, life, pain, misery, and death, and achieve the permanent blissful state of one's self. This is also known as liberation, nirvana, absolute freedom, or Moksha.

Mahavir explained that from eternity, every living being (soul) is in bondage to karmic atoms as accumulated by its own good or bad deeds. Influenced by karma, the soul is habituated to seek pleasures in materialistic belongings and possessions. These are the deep- rooted causes of self-centered violent thoughts and deeds, anger, hatred, greed, and such other vices. He preached right faith (samyak-darshana), right knowledge (samyak-jnana), and right conduct (samyak-charitra) together will help attain the liberation of one's self.

At the heart of right conduct for Jains lie the Five Great Vows:
Nonviolence (Ahimsa)- not to cause harm to any living beings
Truthfulness (Satya)- to speak the harmless truth only Non-stealing (Asteya)- not to take anything not properly given
Chastity (Brahmacharya)- not to indulge in sensual pleasure
Non-possession/Non-attachment (Aparigraha)- complete detachment from material things Jains hold these vows at the center of their lives.

At the age of 72, Lord Mahavir died and his purified soul left the body and achieved complete liberation. He became a Siddha, a pure consciousness, a liberated soul, living forever in a state of complete bliss. On the night of his salvation, people celebrated the Festival of Lights (Dipavali) in his honor.

He taught the idea of supremacy of human life and stressed the importance of the positive attitude of life. Lord Mahavir also preached the gospel of universal love, emphasizing that all living beings, irrespective of their size, shape, form, how spiritually developed or under-developed, are equal and we should love and respect them.

DO YOU KNOW WHY WE SELL EQUAL EXCHANGE FAIR TRADE PRODUCTS?

Fair Trade respects workers and the earth-- and allows us
to sell organic goods
without undercutting
any local producers.
A couple other facts:

- Our newest EE coffee is One Harvest, a "story coffee" from a co-op named Tierra Nueva in Nicaragua. The story is that through the co-op, women participate in leadership training and have formed a credit union that gives loans specifically to women farmers.
- The EE coffee, Congo, is priced a little higher because it not only benefits its producing farmers but the Panzi Hospital. Panzi Hospital in the DR Congo annually treats over 2000 survivors of sexual assault with medical care, counseling, and after-care (e.g. job preparation.)

And a fun religious fact:

- All Equal Exchange coffee is not only organic, but kosher!
